Village Board Takes Advantage of Law to Increase Corporate Tax

Leaves Gas Tax Money To Accumulate for Any Road Paving

Members of the village board Tuesday evening passed an ordinance increasing the corporate fund tax by 10 per cent.

This is permitted by house bill 650 passed recently by the state legislature to give cities and villages additional income to take care of increased costs of government.

The increase will mean an additional $500 income which will up the present corporation tax receipts of $4,980 to $5,480.

The law merely requires the publishing of a legal notice to the effect that the tax is increased and it will go into effect next year.

The board also passed a resolution moving back a year the five year highway plan for Antioch.

Under the ruling of the state highway department the cities and villages are required to plan a program of improvement of arterial streets for a five-year period and the village would then get one-fifth of the five year receipts from the motor tax fund for the improvement.

Antioch doesn't get enough gasoline tax from the state in a year to pave any street, so it is asking an accumulation of the money for expenditure when the sum will be substantial.

Widening of Orchard street has been given consideration but the motor fuel tax has never been sufficient to pay for the work.

Two or more members of the board will sit on the panel Sunday evening.

Antioch to be Represented At Cardinal Bus Hearing Before State Comm. Com.

Harold Nelson and Charles Carmak represented Antioch at the Cardinal Bus Lines hearing before the Illinois Commerce Commission in Chicago recently. The bus company suspended its service between Antioch and Waukegan in October without warning and this community with Channel Lake, Lake Villa, and Fox Lake, and Waukegan have protested. Waukegan is represented by its Chamber of Commerce.

Charles Petty represented Lake Villa and Frank Royer, Channel Lake.

It is said that a formal petition will be presented to the I. C. C. in seeking restoration of bus service.

Educators Meet To Re-align Conference

Officials of high school members of three conferences met last night (Wednesday) to work out a re-alignment of the three conferences to provide athletic contests between schools of more equal size and also to make shorter the distances traveled to and from games.

Represented were schools of the Northwest Conference, of which Antioch is a member, the North Suburban conference and the SWANI (Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois conference).

A committee composed of Gerald A. McElroy, Palatine; Richard Warfield, Wauconda; Hubert A. Pearce, Zion-Benton; Nelson N. Stork, Woodstock; and Floyd King, Harvard, was chosen to evaluate letters from all the member high schools and to act on their recommendations.

No action is anticipated this year, and it is doubtful whether or not a suitable change can be brought about before the 1952-53 seasons.

Cpl. Marvin C. Toepper of Depot St., is home after seeing 42 months of service in the U. S. army, 14 months of which were spent in Korea. When he arrived home he saw for the first time his 8-month-old daughter, Linda Lou.

Fr. Roberts Ehrigott to Leave St. Ignatius for Villa Park, Ill. Pastorate

St. Ignatius Church to Get Interim Priest Through Appointment

The Rev. Roberts Ehrigott will end his pastorate at St. Ignatius' Episcopal church this month to become a priest and rector at the church of St. Mary Magdalen at Villa Park, Illinois.

He was elected to his new parish by the Vestry Sunday evening after a farewell dinner at Villa Park for the former priest Fr. Donald F. Curzon who is leaving there to become a director of Lawrence hall, Episcopal Home for Boys, in Chicago.

Fr. Ehrigott said he would assume his new duties between Dec. 15 and Jan. 1, and that Bishop Conkling would appoint an interim priest until a new rector is elected.

Coming to the Antioch church when it was still a mission in July 1949, Fr. Ehrigott became its first priest and rector. He was ordained to the priesthood on Dec. 17, 1949 and became rector when the mission became a parish Jan. 1, 1951.

Villa Park New Parish
The church to which he goes was built six years ago and became a parish at the same time St. Ignatius did. It has a new rectory.

Loren Sexauer, senior warden of St. Ignatius' said the church is sorry to lose Fr. Ehrigott and his family, but realizes that the advancement in the new parish merits his leaving.

"I hope that he will keep as pleasant a memory of Antioch where he began his priesthood as we do of him as our first rector," he said.

In the two years of their stay in Antioch, Fr. Ehrigott and his family have made many friends who are sorry to see them leave.

Mrs. Jessie Harrington Observed 90th Birthday Monday, Died Yesterday

Mrs. Jessie Harrington, 90, died at 2:45 p. m. Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. J. Arnold at Petite lake following an illness of a week.

She underwent surgery a week ago at St. Therese hospital in Waukegan, and apparently was making satisfactory progress toward recovery Monday when she observed her 90th birthday anniversary, posing for a photographer with a birthday cake at her side.

Mrs. Harrington was born Dec. 3, 1861 in Jefferson barracks, near St. Louis, Mo. The captain's wife assisted and Mrs. Harrington was named for Jessie Benton, wife of John Charles Fremont.

Mrs. Fremont a few years ago was the subject of a fictionalized biography by Irving Stone, "Immortal Wife."

Her parents, Albert and Susan Bates moved to Watseka, Ill., then to Peoria.

It was at Peoria that Mr. and Mrs. Harrington were married Nov. 29, 1881. They lived in Chicago before coming to the Antioch community 17 years ago. He died in January, 1938.

She is survived by the daughter, Marguerite Arnold.

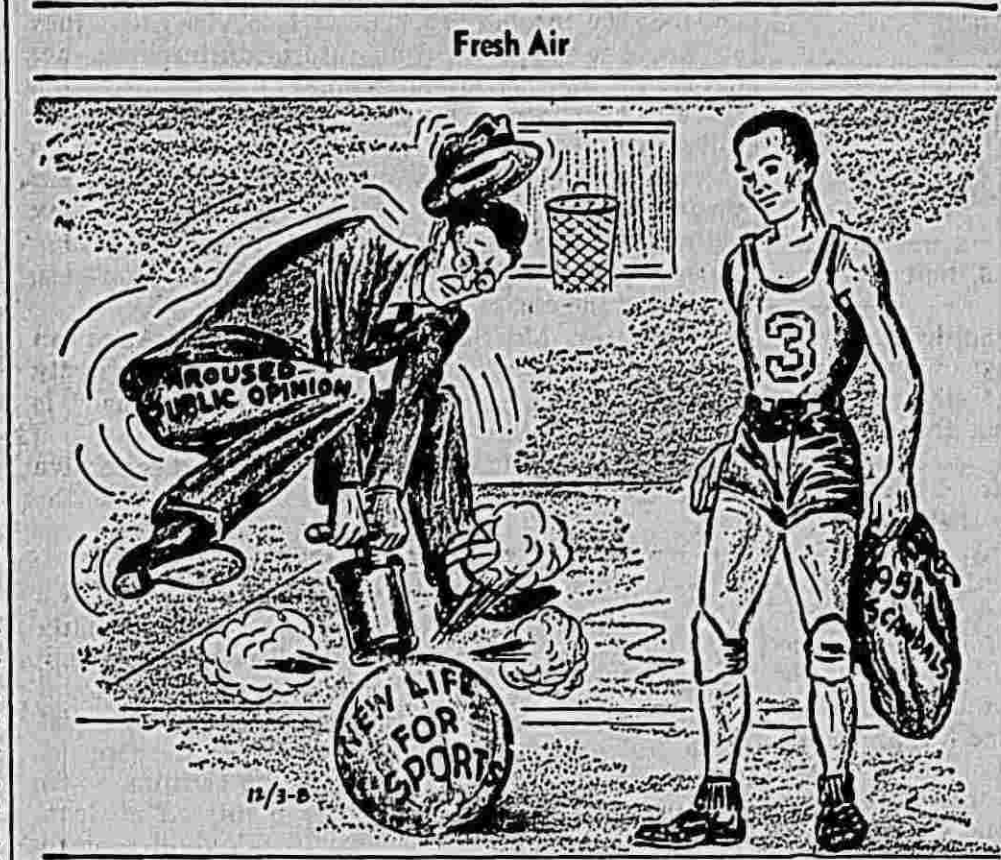

The funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Strang funeral home in Antioch with the Rev. G. Richard Tuttle officiating. Burial will be at Hillside cemetery.

Ambulance in Collision

While Mrs. Katherine Yeck of Wildwood subdivision near Antioch was being rushed to the Lake County General hospital for treatment for ptomaine poisoning Friday evening the ambulance struck the car of Erick Johnson, Gurnee, when he began a left turn into his own driveway. No one was hurt, but the ambulance from the Sokolowski chapel at Fox Lake was put out of commission and another was used. Victor Searer, Fox Lake, told sheriff's deputies the siren and red lights were operating when the accident occurred.

Antioch to Play Grant Here Friday Evening; Barrington Wins 63-38

Antioch High school, after losing to Barrington there 63 to 38 last Friday, will face another tough foe in Grant High here tomorrow evening.

The Bulldogs beat Elva-Vernon 47 to 27 on the Bears' own floor last Friday evening, chalking up their second conference victory.

Coach Dick Scott took Monday evening in pointing out weaknesses that appeared in the Barrington game and devised new plays for the game tomorrow night.

Barrington's strong defense and their sharp shooting were too much for the Sequoia, who it must be said, were somewhat off in their shooting the first half. They tired, too, during the third quarter on the larger Barrington floor.

The Broncos were ahead 25 to 15 at half time and commanded a 47 to 24 advantage at the end of the third quarter.

Bruce Stahmer was high point man for Antioch with 13 points, while McGowan was high for Barrington with 9 field goals.

The Antioch sophomores were defeated by the Barrington sophomores in the preliminary by a decisive score.

The Antioch Freshmen defeated the Wilmet freshmen Monday evening 46 to 10.

Mike Haviland was top scorer with 12 points. The next home game will be with Grant as the opponent Dec. 10. Paul Kessenich is the coach.

Farewells to Be Said To Fr. F. M. Flaherty At St. Peter's Monday

Farewells will be said by parishoners and friends of St. Peter's Catholic church Monday evening to the Rev. Francis M. Flaherty who after many years of service there has taken up new duties at St. Peter's parish, Chicago.

The reception will be at 7:30 p. m. in the church hall and an invitation has been extended to the public to attend and to wish Fr. Flaherty success and happiness in his new parish.

The parishioners are giving the reception and are following a custom of bringing the priest back to receive the acknowledgments rather than before his leaving.

Henry Quadenfeld has again been given the contract for serving as U. S. mail messenger between Antioch and Benet lake.

Stores to Open Nights For Xmas Shopping; Postoffice Sees Rush

Antioch Gradually Taking On Holiday Look Downtown

Antioch stores have placed their Christmas stocks on display and the windows this year are unusually attractive.

Robert Wilton, president of the Lions club, said that a canvass of the retail business places revealed that the stores will be open evenings until 9 o'clock for the accommodation of the shoppers starting Friday Dec. 14, and operating up until Christmas eve.

Stores excepted in this plan are the meat markets and the chain grocery stores.

The Lions club will place its public address system of Christmas music in operation Monday, Dec. 17, and it is expected that the village firemen will have the street decorations up at that time.

Postoffice Business Increases
The tempo of holiday business has increased as shown in the receipts at the Antioch postoffice.

Postmaster Roy Kufalk today appealed to the business places to bring the mail to the office during the afternoon so that the clerks will have time to sack it.

"Many wait until closing time to bring it in and we will be so busy with other mail from now on that we won't have time to dispatch all of it," said Kufalk. "Already we have had instances of mail missing our evening dispatch."

Open on Wednesdays

Kufalk announced that starting next week and continuing the week following, the postoffice will be opened on Wednesday afternoons. At other times during the year the post-office closes on Wednesday afternoons.

He said that he expects that trucks will be operated out of Chicago in delivering parcel post mail on Sunday, Dec. 16 and 23, to relieve congestion.

Postmaster Kufalk said that during the Christmas rush each of the three rural helpers will have a helper. There will be five extra employees in the postoffice itself.

"We won't have to use any other building this year, but we will be awfully crowded even with the added space of our new building," he said.

Compensation Available To Firemen, Rescuers In Drowning Accidents

No new law is necessary for compensation of firemen or rescue squad workers in their work on recovering drowned persons, Capt. Herman Holbek of the Antioch Rescue squad said Monday.

"Township supervisors are authorized to pay for such services," Holbek said.

The Antioch Rescue squad captain said that he was told by the late Harry Hall, state's attorney that he had looked up the law and that the township supervisor can pay for services rendered in the case of drowning.

The Lake County Firemen's association at its meeting here recently decided to have Rep. Harvey Pearson present a bill calling for authorization of state compensation for firemen and rescue squads for services in drownings, the money to be a part of the budget of the state welfare department.

Holbek, however, says the law already is there and that while he has known about it the Antioch squad preferred to work on a volunteer basis.

More Goods for More People

A speaker at a recent meeting of grocers in Portland, Oregon, said, "The trend of giant organizations to sell at cheap prices is selling the American economy down the river."

Commenting editorially on this, the Morning Oregonian observed "it is difficult to believe anyone who has studied the American economy could sincerely make such an assertion. Mass production, distribution and selling are the American economy. Large organizations are essentially a part of it. More comforts, a better standard of living, with fewer hours of labor, are the result." The Oregonian then pointed out that the small merchant fills a need, and has prospered right along with the big stores.

The truth is that mass production and distribution, as we know it here, are the wonder and envy of most of the rest of the world. Visitors from abroad are commonly amazed at both the American factory and the American retail store—just as they are amazed at the American standard of living. The masses of our people live on a scale which is limited to the few in other countries. Articles which we look upon as semi-necessities are regarded as marvelous luxuries by the bulk of the citizens of other lands.

In this achievement, both the big business and the little business, all the way along the line from the producers of raw materials to the sellers of finished merchandise, have played their part. It is impossible to say which is the most important, and which has done the most. The big point is that we could not do without either one.

The American business philosophy has been to bring more and better goods and foods within the reach of more people and to depend upon high volume sales for an adequate profit. As the Oregonian accurately said, mass distribution and selling are the American economy.

Time We Learned

James A. Shelton, president of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, recently said, "The most wholesome thing for the welfare of our country would be for the citizens of modest means to learn through taxation what the costs of their government really are."

A great many people still cling to the delusion that we can pay for anything and everything by the simple expedient of soaking the rich. The fact is that the rich have been soaked to the point of diminishing return already with terrific income, inheritance, gift, and other taxes. Something like two-thirds of all the money left after taxation now goes to people in the under-$5,000 income bracket. It is obvious that they are going to pay most of all future tax increases—for the reason that nobody else can.

The new income tax law, which went into effect November 1, will add 11 per cent to the income taxes of everyone. In other words, the pay envelope has shrunk once again. At the same time, the new tax bill also has substantially increased the price of a long list of items, ranging from automobiles to cigarettes, by raising the excise taxes.

Certainly, Mr. Shelton's hope that the American people learn through taxation what government really costs should be realized today. The "little man" is taking the beating.

The cheap politician is usually the most expensive to the taxpayers.

The Low Down from Hickory Grove

If a person chose to be vexed and perplexed on a grand scale, this U. S. A. is the place. And to lightly touch upon just one angle, I will tell you about aluminum and how we are now in great need of same, and how the Govt. has fumbled the ball there in that green and pretty Northwest where rolls the Oregon. A power shortage there is causing the shutting down of some of the aluminum maker's plants. The Govt. is the big cheese there in power making—in a pinch it cannot cut the mustard—aluminum production falters.

The perplexing side of the dilemma is how come a senator or a congressman who is smart enough to get himself elected, is not keen enough to see what is in the woodpile when he ups and votes millions upon millions for Govt. powerhouses and dams across the land, when he should catch on that it is out-and-out Socialism and failure that he is voting for. How come he can be that confused under his sombrero. It sort of looks as if the fellow had not been around quite as much as we figured.

But Govt. fumbling there in Evergreen-land is bringing private enterprise to the rescue. In Texas, and Arkansas, and Louisiana, where muscle and brains and fuel of all kinds is plentiful and aluminum type ore is near at hand, they have buckled on their six-guns and regalia and are going to town with aluminum production.

Perfume Offerings

Entire temples of the Egyptians were made fragrant by incense burning. At various times of the day when a prayer was offered to a god, each was accompanied by a different perfume. Incense offering—rising at the break of day; myrrh when the sun was directly overhead, and Kyphi at twilight.

Library Notes

Spring is the world's favorite season and when it is not with us we are carrying the memory of it in our hearts as a promise of better days to come. Edwin May Teale reminds us that spring is nowhere more varied or beautiful than in North America, in his book "North with the Spring." To write this "biography" of spring, Mr. Teale and his wife traveled 17,000 miles through 23 states for 130 days, swinging back and forth behind the advancing front of spring. "North with the Spring" was presented to the Antioch Township Library in memory of O. E. Hachmeister.

Americans are apt to date our history from the voyage of Columbus, forgetting that all early explorers from the Vikings to the Pilgrim Fathers found the land inhabited. Since these aborigines kept no written record, their history must be pieced together by archeologists from painstaking search of early dwellings and graves. From the mounds of the Mississippi plains, the cliffs of the Pueblo dwellers, and the fabulous Aztec and Mayan ruins, Frank C. Hibben has gathered the clues to give us an amazing archeological detective story of America's past. "Treasure in the Dust" is on the library shelves in memory of O. E. Hachmeister.

Dr. Peter Marshall has become one of the most widely acclaimed Protestant ministers of recent years. A poor Scottish immigrant, he landed in this country in 1927 and within 19 years became Chaplain of the United States Senate. His sermons and prayers were widely read in the best-selling book, "Mr. Jones, Meet the Master." In his biography, "A Man Called Peter," his wife tells of his life and work and gives us a collection of six favorite sermons and six favorite prayers. "A Man Called Peter" was presented to the Antioch Township Library in memory of Mrs. William Oetting.

MRS. OFTEDAHL TELLS OF HER TRIP TO NORWAY

Mrs. John Oftedahl gave an interesting review of her recent trip to Norway at the annual meeting and Christmas party of the Antioch Business and Professional Woman's club, held at the Scout Home, Monday evening. A delicious turkey dinner was served at seven o'clock by Mrs. Charles Kempf, chairman and co-chairman Mrs. Gust Mantis, assisted by Mesdames Victoria Wilson, Ruth Pickus, Lucy Himens, Eva Kaye and Miss May Hartley. Following a short business session an exchange of gifts concluded the meeting.

Members of the V. F. W. Auxiliary will hold their annual Christmas party Monday evening at St. Ignatius' hall.

The Antioch Recreation will have open bowling in the afternoon of Wednesday through Thursday and Sundays.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wohlfeil left Tuesday for St. Petersburg, Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. Earl Horton returned home Monday after being a medical patient at Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan for the past two weeks.

Mrs. John Skalak and children are visiting Mrs. Robert Morecan at Forest Hills, Long Island, N. Y., this week.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere appreciation and thanks to the Antioch Rescue squad and all my friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness and for the gifts, cards and flowers sent me while in the hospital.

Mrs. Earl Horton.

Attend School Workshop

Plan "Jump 'n' Jive" Dance
The freshmen of Antioch High school will sponsor a "jump 'n' jive" dance after the Palatine game on Friday, Dec. 14. Virginia Runge is chairman and Louise Portalski, Diane Van Hilst, Allen Masopust, Ken Van Patten, Barbara Novak, Marcia Hogan, Nancy Swenson, and Charlotte Beelow are serving on committees.

The Juniors' Sadie Hawkins Day dance will be Friday after the Grant game in the high school gym.

Card of Thanks
We wish to offer our sincere thanks to all who remembered us on our anniversary.

County Already Buys $11,984.28 Worth of TB. Christmas Seals

Lake County residents bought $11,984.28 worth of 1951 Christmas Seals during the first two weeks of this year's Christmas Seal campaign.

Mrs. Gerard Fossland, Christmas Seal Sale Chairman reported today, "We wish to thank all those who have sent in contributions for their promptness, which is evidence of their interest in the work of the Lake County Tuberculosis Association, financed by the sale of Christmas Seals," Mrs. Fossland said.

Many of the returns, she continued were accompanied by letters expressing gratitude for the work of the association in fighting tuberculosis and "best wishes" for a successful Christmas Seal Sale.

"I am sure the 1951 Christmas Seal Sale will be a success," she said. "If this generous public response continues we shall be able to reach our goal of $50,000 by Christmas, and the tuberculosis association must reach that goal if it is to put into operation its 1952 plans for fighting tuberculosis in this area."

Saving Time

Daylight saving time was begun during World War I.

Card of Thanks

We the Cub Pack of Troop No. 86, Channel Lake school wish to thank everyone for their generous donation of scrap paper, amounting to 9 tons, for which we received $45.00. This we will use for the advancement of Scout work. Again thanks and a Very Merry Christmas.

Porch Protection

Porch floors are subjected to excessive wear and all kinds of weather. Special exterior floor paints are manufactured to give the greatest amount of service possible. Cement porch floors, if they haven't been painted before, should first be primed with a special cement primer, then finished with rapid-drying cement floor paints.

Shellac Sticks

The remarkable affinity of shellac to wood has puzzled many. The solution may be in the fact that shellac is the resinous secretion of the "Lac" bug which feeds on certain trees in India and Burma. Thus there is a natural tie between shellac and wood. Science never has been able to duplicate shellac synthetically.

Eye-Pleasing Kitchen

An inviting kitchen with a corner picture window combines powder blue with copper and knotty pine. The blue-enamelled walls and cabinets set off the gleaming whiteness of the kitchen equipment. Copper pots and kitchen molds which hang on the wall above the stove supply beauty as well as utility. One wall section is paneled in pine.

SHORT STORY

A Better Mousetrap

By John Bulling

I WAS ABOUT to doze off into an after dinner coma, when the ad first caught my eye. There was no fancy display about it. In fact, it was in the want ad columns and I only noticed it because it had been set in heavy type. It went somehow like this:

HERE IT IS AT LAST!!!
BEAT A PATH TO OUR DOOR, FOLKS! 'KILLIT'
IS GUARANTEED TO KILL
RATS AND MICE. DOUBLE
YOUR MONEY BACK IF YOU
FAIL TO KILL RODENTS
AFTER FOLLOWING THE SIMPLE INSTRUCTIONS!

There followed a name and address, and a request to send one dollar for a genuine 'Killit'. The thing was guaranteed. What could I lose? I took the paper to the kitchen and showed the ad to Mary. She insisted that we didn't have any mice or rats, but I said maybe not, but it would be nice to have a guaranteed mousetrap anyhow. I wadded up a dollar bill and stuck it in an envelope and addressed it to the Killit people and made a special trip to the post office to mail it.

I showed the ad to Mary, but she insisted that we didn't have any mice or rats.

Later I got to thinking about it. I hoped that Killit would not be a cat—we already had one cat, and there just isn't room for another one in our two by four apartment. But then, they couldn't send you a cat by mail, could they?

I thought of a buddy of mine, Bill Stout. He was a chronic smoker—you know the type. The world is his ashtray. He had already started several expensive fires by laying down cigarettes and forgetting where he'd put them. He had seen an ad in the paper for an ashtray guaranteed to snuff forgotten cigarettes. Just the thing for him. He'd ordered the thing, and when it came in the mail he had found out why it had been guaranteed—it had to be filled with water. How we'll all laughed at Bill for being caught by slick advertising.

BUT how could a mousetrap be guaranteed to kill if it didn't do just that? No, I was safe enough from the hilarity of our crowd. If I bought a lemon and the story happened to leak out, I should never hear the end of it, particularly from Bill. I remember how mad he'd been when I laughed at him. But a mousetrap guaranteed to kill—there was no way of getting around it.

I tried to figure out what the thing would be like. Basically a mousetrap doesn't appear capable of much change. I mean to say, the thing we all know as a mousetrap is sound, and seems about the only way to go about catching mice short of running after them.

That same Sunday night I had dreams about mousetraps. I'm one of those guys who can always remember his dreams with crystal clarity. The mousetraps I had entertained in my subconscious during the night, while they had seemed pretty good at the time, were complete washouts in the harsh light of day. Most of them were Rube Goldberg affairs, and none of them would have worked.

I began to forget the beastly mousetrap though Mary didn't. Apparently a workable idea had come to her while she was down at the market, and she had held up the line at the cashier's counter by demanding a piece of paper and a pencil—neither of which she ever has with her—and sketching out a fairly detailed plan of the thing, deaf to the selfish bawling of the pushing assortment of waiting housewives. She brought it home, indignant at the attitude of the shopping public, and showed it to me. I said it would have been the best mousetrap to hit civilization yet, and where are you going to get the cyclotron to work it?

We weren't kept in suspense too much longer. A package came in on the mail on the Wednesday of Thursday of the same week. It was very heavy, and had cost twenty-four cents to mail. We ripped it open and out came a flat slab of wood about six inches square and a piece of lead pipe a foot long. And a sheet of printed instructions which started out: Place the mouse or rat to be killed on the wooden block and strike it smartly behind the ears with the pipe. . . .

MISS SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE TELLS YOU

How to save time and money on Long Distance calls

How to save time

"Here are some pointers that will make your Long Distance service better and faster.

"First, call by number whenever possible. It's the fastest way to get connected.

"The way you place the call's important, too. Suppose you're calling New York, and the number is CIrcle 6-0200.

"When 'Long Distance' answers, you just say 'New York City, Circle 6-0200.' (By giving the name of the city first, you will help the operator speed your call.) Then she'll ask you for your number.

How to save money

"1—Long Distance rates are lower after 6 P. M. and all day Sunday. The circuits are usually less busy then, so your calls go through faster, too.

"2—When you're willing to talk to anyone at the other end, it's most economical to put your call through 'Station-to-Station.' You don't have to say 'Station-to-Station'—just give the operator the city and number you want.

"3—When you want to talk to a particular person or extension telephone, tell the Long Distance operator you want to place a 'Person-to-Person' call. This costs a little more, but charges don't start until you begin talking with the person (or on the extension) you want."

Water and Oil Are Lifeblood Of Saudi Arabia

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"Where do oil and water mix?" makes a trick geographic quiz question.

The answer: In an Arabian Nights land between the Red Sea and the Persian Gulf, Saudi Arabia. There, an American oil company working a vast and productive oil concession is now cooperating with King Ibn Saud for the distribution of a documentary color film that will help educate Arabs in ways of conserving their precious water supply.

Scarce water and abundant oil are the mainsprings of Saudi Arabia's life and modern economy, says the National Geographic Society. Long before the current movie project, pioneer oil men were faced with the interdependence of the two elements.

Quantities of water are needed to drill for oil and to maintain the crews and settlements that produce this machine-age lubricant. For its part, the oil industry has turned up numerous new water sources which not only meet its own purposes but aid in the development of the country as a whole.

Water To Be Tapped

Except in the mountainous west and southwest rims, Saudi Arabia's annual rainfall amounts to only about three inches. There are virtually no permanent streams in a land whose more than half a million square miles are spread over largely rocky plateau and inhospitable desert. Brief and torrential downpours send occasional wild floods along the wadies, or water courses, but during most of the year these ditches and gullies are dry.

Yet there may be considerable water waiting to be tapped beneath the arid, forbidding crust of Saudi Arabia. Just where and how much is not yet known. Geologists from the U. S. Interior Department are now conducting a survey of Saudi Arabia's water resources as a Point Four project to assist underdeveloped nations.

Meanwhile, nature's green and fertile oases continue to serve the wandering riders of the desert, while new man-produced oases have been made possible through modern drilling equipment and skill.

It is here that oil and water meet most strikingly in the operations of Aramco, the Arabian American Oil Company which holds the exclusive concession for some 450,000 square miles of Saudi Arabian territory.

Wells Beside Pipeline

In addition to water installations at its producing oil fields in the Persian Gulf region, and the scattered water wells sunk here and there in once totally parched desert hinterlands, the company has drilled about 40 such life-giving wells along the recently completed Tappan line that carries oil to the Mediterranean.

Wherever this water has gushed forth at pump stations and other points of the 1,068-mile pipeline, Arab wayfarers have gathered with their herds of sheep, goats, and camels.

Indirectly, the huge oil royalties paid to Saudi Arabia (now estimated to have reached some $90,000,000 a year) have also provided the government with funds for far-reaching national development programs, including various irrigation and other water works.

The earliest and one of the most important of these modern projects was the model farm at the Al Khari oasis near the capital, Riyadh, where oil-industry engineers again dabbled in water. Using power-driven pumps, a 10-mile concrete canal, and other irrigation aids, these Americans laid the groundwork for the large-scale production of grains, fruits and vegetables that has made Al Khari a garden spot of arid Saudi Arabia.

Brannan Suggests Naming Tater Bug 'Russian Beetle'

VIENNA, Austria — Charles F. Brannan, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, jokingly suggested that the name of the Colorado beetle (potato bug) should be changed to "Russian beetle."

The secretary was commenting at a news conference on charges made by the Communists last year that U. S. planes dropped potato bugs in Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

The U. S. official is making an inspection tour of agricultural projects in Europe.

Bull Calf Tries Ski-Jump; None the Worse for Wear

OSLO, Norway — The village of Frederikstad in southern Norway believes that it has a great vaudeville performer, if he could only be induced to repeat his performance. The town reported what it believed to be the first successful ski-jump ever made by a bull calf.

The calf was ambling along the top of the well-known Oeya ski-jump, when it sat down on its haunches and shot down the 40-foot long run.

Fall flying, the animal made a perfect three-point landing, shook itself and then walked away.

Wounded Soldiers Recovery Rates Up To New High in War

WASHINGTON—Soldiers wounded in combat against Communist forces in Korea have a much better chance of surviving than the doughboy of 1918 or G. I. Joe of World War II.

Army Medical Service officials say that 97.4 per cent of American soldiers wounded in Korea recover after receiving medical care. This compares with 95.5 in World War II and 92 per cent in World War I.

Ever since the Army was created more than 176 years ago, the Army's medical services have worked constantly to lower the death toll among wounded soldiers, and, as result of progress in medicines and surgical techniques, the fatality rate has decreased steadily.

One of the chief concerns of a battlefield commander is the problem of supplies of all types, and high on the priority list are medical supplies. While the movement of medical personnel is relatively easy, they can accomplish little without proper equipment, instruments and medications.

Experience gained during World War II went a long way toward simplifying the problem of medical supply to the Army field forces in Korea, but Korea presented many unique problems and, during the past year, many improvements have been made.

Now, on short notice, the Army Medical Service can deliver anywhere in the world a single package which may range in size from a 3,000-bed hospital to a 10-bed infirmary.

The packages are assembled at the Louisville (Ky.) Medical Depot. The various types of supplies—ranging from vaccines and serums to refrigerators and office equipment—are received there from medical and general depots throughout the United States. At the Louisville assembly point, all items are processed, water-proofed, packaged, crated, marked for identification, and identified in numerical sequence for loading and unloading.

Navy Works on Fabric Suit That Will Stop .45 Bullets

WASHINGTON — Shades of Dick Tracy! The military is working on a fabric suit of armor capable of stopping a .45-caliber bullet.

Navy officials recently informed a House appropriations subcommittee that the wonder fabric is a laminated plastic known as daron.

Capt. Frank P. Gilmore, controller of the Navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, says there is one disadvantage to the new body armor. It weighs 5 to 7 pounds.

A GI in Korea, however, might welcome that extra poundage for the safety angle involved.

Steel Company Discovers There is No 'Heat Sickness'

CHICAGO—An intensified medical and safety program is helping employees of U. S. Steel's Chicago area mills beat the heat as midsummer temperatures soar.

The program is based upon an important medical discovery: That there is no such thing as heat sickness and that cases known as heat exhaustion, heat cramps and heat prostration are due largely to poor physical condition, improper rest and faulty diet.

U. S. Steel's hard-hitting campaign to reduce summer heat's toll in employees health has met with marked success since the program began in 1941. Only 41 cases, most of them minor, have been reported so far this year in Chicago area plants—a reduction of 90 per cent in ten years.

Workers are urged to get plenty of sleep and to take cool baths daily. "Beat the heat" waters and candies are made available to all employees. They contain scientific amounts of salt and dextrose for the replacement of body losses of salt and sugar. More than 40 million salt tablets have been given to U. S. Steel workers in the past seven years.

A color film showing the right way to combat heat fatigue has been used extensively in the mills. More than 100,000 copies of "beat the heat" comic books have been distributed. These books, illustrated pamphlets and posters stress proper diet, rest and recreation.

Powdered Peaches Produced By U. S. Food Technologists

BERKELEY — Canned peaches may soon be available in several new forms, says W. V. Cruess, professor of food technology, University of California College of Agriculture.

Crushed, pureed, thickened for pie fillings, and julienne style canned peaches have been produced. Cruess explained, in an attempt to eliminate waste from overproduction of clings for regular canning.

Cruess, working on this problem with Rolie O'Neal and William Rivera in the food technology department, has also produced dehydrated shoe-string peaches, vacuum dried peach "nuggets," powdered peaches for baked products and puddings, and candied peaches.

These new products were reported at the annual meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists in New York.

Predict Tiny TV Tubes Will Oust One Now In Use

GARY, Ind. (NPC)—Television is on the march. New components and other developments are on the way through invention and research. Progress is inevitable, declares National Patent Council, so long as the American Patent System continues to offer the incentive to invent and produce.

Television is stepping along, and the sets of today will make way for the sets of tomorrow. Some unknown inventor of today may be a television giant in days to come.

You don't like those scanning lines that disturb the close-up view? Be patient. Soon there will be no visible scanning lines. This is the promise of Philo T. Farnsworth, the once unknown western farm boy, who suddenly emerged as a television pioneer when he invented and patented the electronic-scanning picture tube. Electronic scanning knocked out mechanical scanning. The latter used a revolving perforated disc that screened the picture. Farnsworth thinks our present direct-view tube is on the way out, just as the smaller direct-view tubes have already almost disappeared from the market.

Tiny Tubes Coming
"It now seems entirely feasible," Farnsworth said recently to a group of radio engineers, "to build a receiver tube six inches long and less than an inch in diameter that will have 15,000 times the screen brightness of today's direct-view tube. With such a tube, we shall be able to use a built-in screen in the receiver or to adjust the set so that an image may be projected in three-by-four-foot size on a separate screen or wall."

New kinds of tubes will also improve the eye of the camera, Farnsworth said. The camera sees with about the same effect as the normal human eye. But the new tubes will enhance the camera eye so that it will see through the infrared region of the spectrum with 100 times the efficiency of the human eye; in fact "where the human eye does not see at all."

Smaller tubes and other technical advances should bring the costs of television sets down in the near future. A set described in the January Bachelier Review is in line with the Farnsworth predictions. This set out production costs by using a low-loss insulation phenolic plastic housing instead of building a voltage driver that was vacuum impregnated, oil filled, and hermetically sealed. Costs in replacements or repairs have also been substantially reduced for this unit.

Research scientists are looking for precision refinements in the transmission and reception of ultra-high frequencies which will permit many more television stations to operate and provide the viewer with a wider selection of programs. They say television is coming around more and more corners. It is moving ahead on its own muscle as a shining example of private enterprise. Television has remained free and independent of government subsidy to serve all corners. It is hoped that bureaucratic edicts will not seriously hinder progress.

Modern Philip Nolan Keeps Atlantic Stirred for Years

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A modern "man without a country" is shuttling back and forth across the Atlantic between the United States and Italy. Homeless for 12 years, his plight seems apt to continue, as neither nation will give him shelter.

Immigration service officials refused to let this modern Philip Nolan, a man named Frank Russo, disembark from the ship Italia on which he had arrived from Italy, where also he was refused admittance.

It all began in 1939 when Russo denied American citizenship to get out of a prison term in Florida. After serving part of the sentence, he was deported to Italy. He stowed away on a ship returning to America in 1945 and again was deported.

Back in Italy, he stowed away again on another U. S. bound ship. This time he as held ten months at Ellis Island and deported back again in 1949. Determined, he bounced back across the ocean. This time he was held at the island ten months and left for Italy May 28. A few days ago he returned—on the same ship. U. S. Immigration officials, however, said he could just stay there (on ship). Italian officials feel likewise, which puts Russo in quite a spot.

Judge Levies Overtime Fine On Railway, Promises More

RICHMOND, Calif. — Parking tickets are always a problem. And if you think your jalopy is a special target for overtime tags—consider the case of the city that fined a railroad engineer.

A Richmond city ordinance says trains must not block a grade crossing for more than five minutes.

Police Judge Clare Horner said Southern Pacific trains violated that rule eight times and fined the company $80, with a strong warning: "Next time you're in for sterner judgment."

Block Book-Ends
If your youngsters no longer have need of their alphabet blocks, you can make very nice book-ends with them. Glue four of the blocks together for each book-end and give them one or two thin coats of pure white shellac. The book-ends can be made heavier by putting flat weights at the bottom and they can be glued to a felt bottom if desired. Shellac can also serve as a glue in this application.

Shampoo Hint
Rinse hair thoroughly with clear, warm water before applying a detergent shampoo. You'll find the preparation easier to spread through wet hair, and the resulting lather will be more abundant.

Farm Management Service
Made Available to Farmers

The Farm Bureau-Farm Management service is being made available to more Lake County farmers due to the employment of another fieldman. Up until the present time there has been but one fieldman to service the cooperators in 8 counties. Because of requests from more farmers to secure the services of the fieldman, the directors decided to employ another fieldman. This gives an opportunity for 13 more Lake county farmers to obtain the benefits of service.

Farmers who are interested in enrolling and increasing their incomes by a substantial amount may contact the Farm Bureau office at once. Enrollments will be taken on a "first come first served" basis.

Picture of a man
making a smart decision

HERE is a man who's been doing a lot of thinking.

Someday, he's told himself, I'm going to turn in my old car and get a new one.

And he said, still talking to himself, when I do that I'm going to size up the field—give 'em all a real going over.

You see him here at the wheel of a Buick. He hasn't bought it—yet. It's a demonstrator, and he's trying it out.

But the more he tries it, the more he knows he's been wasting a lot of time.

From the moment he looked inside, he said: Here's the room—and the comfort—and the style I've been looking for.

Then he nudged its Fireball Engine into action. It's a high-compression valve-in-head, as you probably know.

He eased out into traffic. Stopped and started for a couple of traffic lights, and said something to the effect that this Dynaflo Drive* is a honey. Why don't they all build 'em this way?

He saw a bump ahead. Place where the pavement had been torn up. Other cars were braking down to a creep to cross it. He held back—rolled right across at regular speed with barely a bobble.

It's hard to believe, he said, but what they say about Buick's ride is right.

Ten minutes later he was out on an open stretch of road. Tried an experimental push on the gas treadle. Boy—what a take-off! You couldn't want more power than that.

Ten minutes more—and he knew something else. You don't really steer a Buick. It just about steers itself. Stays right on the beam on the straightaway. Even straightens itself out after a curve.

To make a long story short—he's found out that nothing else he's tried out can hold a candle—not even a little Christmas candle—to this bonnie beauty.

Back at the Buick showroom, he's going to get one more surprise. The price of a Buick is a lot less than he'd guessed it would be.

Moral: Smart Buy's Buick—right now.

Christmas Gift Shops Bring Joy of Giving To Disabled Veterans

The joy of Christmas giving will be brought to sick and disabled war veterans in hospitals throughout the country through Christmas gift shops operated in the hospitals by the American Legion Auxiliary, it has been announced by Mrs. C. L. Heath, Rehabilitation chairman of Antioch Auxiliary unit.

Gift shops where hospitalized veterans can select gifts for their families without cost will be in operation in a large majority of the veterans hospitals during the pre-Christmas weeks, Mrs. Heath explained. The Auxiliary will wrap and mail the gifts to the veterans' families, also without cost to the veterans. Last Christmas the Auxiliary units expended $385,000 in its gift shop program.

"Giving Christmas presents to all veterans forced to spend the holidays in a hospital has been a part of the Auxiliary's Christmas activities for many years," said Mrs.

Heath, "but we discovered that the veterans wanted to give as well as to receive presents. Christmas could not be a happy day for them if they had to lie in their hospital beds and think of families at home to whom they had been unable to send anything.

"So we began setting up American Legion Auxiliary gift shops in recreation rooms or other available space in the hospitals, stocking them with gifts of all kinds donated by Auxiliary units and other friends of the disabled veterans. Patients able to leave their bed come to the gift shops to make their selections, while cart loads of gift articles are taken to the bedside of the others, with Auxiliary volunteers doing all the work. We find that bringing the joy of Christmas giving to the veterans is the finest Christmas gift we can give them."

The Antioch unit has contributed gifts for the American Legion Auxiliary gift shop at Downey.

Undertakers No Exception to O. P. S. Investigation

Undertakers in the Chicago area are being checked by Office of Price Stabilization program, Neil J. Linehan, Chicago district director of the Office of Price Stabilization, announced today.

This investigation is part of a nation wide drive by OPS to secure complete compliance by all sellers of services, such as parking lots, bowling alleys, radio and television service shops, laundries, cleaning establishments and shoe repair shops. All of these groups will be checked in the current enforcement survey.

Prices charged by proprietors of service establishments are governed by Ceiling Price Regulation 34 which requires that the highest prices charged during the base period must be posted in the place of business and filed with the District Office of Price Stabilization, 188 West Randolph street.

"The service trades represent about 12 per cent of the average consumer's budget and cannot be overlooked," Linehan stated. "Vigorous enforcement action will now be taken to bring about complete compliance with the regulation."

He added that ignorance of the regulation and its requirements can no longer be given as an excuse because the regulation became effective last May 16, and has been widely publicized by local newspapers and radio stations. Linehan commended chambers of commerce and trade associations in the Chicago district for their cooperation in circulating information on the regulation.

Methodist Men's Club Sees N. U. Instructor Make Glass Figurines

The Men's club met Monday evening at the Antioch Methodist church and after a Christmas candle lighted dinner ably prepared and served by the ladies of the church were entertained by James Morris, C. E., from Northwestern University in Evanston.

Mr. Morris is instructor in glass blowing and glass manipulation and is also responsible at the university for the construction of the intricate glass apparatus used in the chemical, biological, engineering and research laboratories.

Through equipment brought with him he demonstrated, while lecturing, the necessary technique required for his art, and produced ornamental figurines of a duck, elephant, rabbit, vase and whistling swan, to the complete delight of his listeners. The whistling swan was presented to master of ceremonies M. R. Kruzan for his assistance in the demonstration.

The club will meet again early in January and details regarding the entertainment will be announced soon.
